Kitarini Kids

A few months ago we shared with you about our initiative to start a library at the Kitarini Maasai Children's School in northern Tanzania.

Schoolkids at Kitarini

A number of jewelers partnered with us this fall to fill suitcases full of children's books from their communities. People rallied around the hearts of these children and we collected more books than we can take in two trips! A couple weeks ago we took six suitcases on our trip to Tanzania. The school was not in session so we've left them with a friend until we return in January, when all the books will be delivered to the Kitarini School.

Nine of the suitcases collected this fall.

Liz Pinson of Mid-America Jewelry News heard of the efforts by jewelers and called to interview Roger. You can read her article here.

We're looking forward to partnering with jewelers in the spring and filling more suitcases with books for the Kitarini kids.
